
Something wrong

Posted by Supramati - 2008/06/16 09:52

Hi, first of all congratulations for your work!

Very nice joomla stuff here!

Im trying to use JGTdoc, I installed it, published and i can see the flags into my articles.

When i klik in the flags i cant see the traduction. The plugin doesnt expands my article layout to show the traduction. Can you help me?

Other thing that i would suggest to you is a option to exclude certain languages.

Thanx in advance!

Supramati

Re:Something wrong

Posted by Joomla! - 2008/06/16 14:46

Hi,

I think that Javascript is the problem of the cause.
But I do not understand a cause unless I look at your site.

Because even an email is good, please dispatch your site url.

Other thing that i would suggest to you is a option to exclude certain languages.

Thank you for suggestion.

I consider it in next.

Re:Something wrong

Posted by Supramati - 2008/06/17 14:19

Hi, Thank you for answer:

My url test site is: http://www.brasilquebec.com/CBQV2/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=15:algumas-noticias&catid=1:bruno-e-dri

Hope you can help me to figure this out!

REgards,

Supramati

Re:Something wrong

Posted by Joomla! - 2008/06/17 16:22

In this, isn't Style of the template a cause?

In Firefox and IE6, there were no problems. However, the entire display has collapsed in IE6.

It has only expanded a little in IE7.

Please confirm the style of your template. And, please change to expand even if the article increases.

=====

Re:Something wrong

Posted by Supramati - 2008/06/18 10:05

Hi,

What do u mean by the style of my template? I'm not a coder, so i don't think that I will find anything related to code.

Cheers

=====

Re:Something wrong

Posted by Joomla! - 2008/06/19 06:24

Hi,

Please try the following changes of your template.

your template:

Add `\"display:inline;\"`

Or please change property of display of `\"mainbodybox\"` to `\"inline\"` in the style sheet of your template.

=====

Re:Something wrong

Posted by Supramati - 2008/06/19 08:32

OMG! Thanks, its working now!

I'm getting this message everytime i use it:
Error: not possible to translate

But after few seconds it translates with Error: not possible to translate inside the text!

Thnaks!

Regards

=====

Re:Something wrong

Posted by Joomla! - 2008/06/20 06:54

There is a limitation in the number of characters that can be translated in Language API of Google.

It delimits by the automatic operation with changing line and tag in JGTdoc, and when long sentences are written without changing line, it is not possible to judge it.

The error message comes out because there are sentences without changing line.

Please insert changing line by the period and the comma.

=====

Re:Something wrong

Posted by DRMOOBI - 2008/07/26 03:08

hi,

I am facing the similar problem.

when i click the icon it says :

Error: not possible to translate

I have sent you a PM related to my URL.

pls help me to fix it

Excellent Plugin - Thx and Bravo:kiss:

=====

Re:Something wrong

Posted by Joomla! - 2008/07/26 06:43

http://www.joomla.net/images/fbfiles/images/jgtdoc_longtext.jpg Hi,

Thank you for use.

Please insert changing line or HTMLTag moderately for long sentences.

Thanks.

=====