
Can't upload image files

Posted by Moulouk - 2008/03/19 04:12

Hello,

Thank you for the great tool. I am using Windows Live Writer (WLW) and i cannot upload images to my joomla site. I'm using version Joomla 1.0.13 and version 2.00 of plugin XML RPC. Anytime I try to upload a text with images it tells me that my blog does not take into account image uploading. Can you help me?

Thanks

What kind of error message is displayed?

In addition, will you watch it because log of Windows Live Writer?

Log file:

C:\Documents and Settings\youraccount\Local Settings\Application Data\Windows Live Writer\Windows Live Writer.log

And Check:

Please input the file type in Comma Separated Value.

In addition, please do not input the first slash into Storage Path.

I uploaded the image which was finished with setting.

Thank you so much. The problem was due to an incorrect setting of the image file types. There was a different character than comma separating the types, thus preventing the plugin to identify the images. I changed the separator to comma and it is now working fine. Thanks again for solving my problem. Great job! Great tool!

Hi Prophetizer,

From what i read you must have the following ok, but I still ask.

1/ Have you installed version 2.0.0 of the plugin?

2/ Have you checked that the image file type in the plugin params is separated with commas instead of "\\|\"?"

At WLW installation, I chose "Movable Type API" instead of "Movable type" (not saying that "movable Type" does not work).

yes, i have done all that, i checked that from the post above first. metaweblog api works, your movable type api does not, i can only post text, can't get categories either, or upload images

Thank you for use.

http://www.joomla.net/images/stories/movabletype2.0.0_windowslivewriter1_2.jpgThe category should be acquired.

Please watch an image.

And You get possible to change a category at the time of the contribution of the article.

Is the directory for upload images writable?

Please post after confirming the setting of the blog account again.

Please see the log and contact a pertinent part me if the error occurred.

Log file:

C:\Documents and Settings\youraccount\Local Settings\Application Data\Windows Live Writer\Windows Live Writer.log

well, for now i'm using the metaweblog api that is working great, there must of been something conflicting somewhere so i dunno. if u want me to do some further tests, i can try and do that for u if u want the info for future dev.

Hi

Did you set other Blogger and Metaweblog in "enabled" when you used MovableType?

Please set both to "disabled" if it is so and try.

The reason is because it uses Metaweblog API and Blogger API in MovableType API inside.

If it was not so.

When I can be able to test in your environment, I am glad.

If even you are good.

Thank you

yes, i had those disabled, i will try again, about to launch my site, and hit a last bug. once i get my site up this week, i will create a new dev environment that i will need to keep updating my new site, and i will test for you and report back. i do believe that movabletype api supports more features than metaweblog, so i'm looking forward to switching over if i can get it working. i'll let u know soon

thanks.

It waits a little because word 2007 is not installed.

Thanks.
